First name

I located Sarah Smith under Active users in the Microsoft 365 Admin Center and opened her account to begin the offboarding process.

Block sign-in

sarah.smith@Ktechmobile046.onmicrosoft.com

Blocking someone prevents anyone from signing in as this user, and is a good idea when you think their password or username may have been compromised. When you block someone, it immediately stops any new sign-ins for that account, and if they're signed in, they'll be automatically signed out from all Microsoft services within 60 minutes.

This won't stop the account from receiving mail, and doesn't delete any data.

Block this user from signing in

I blocked the user's sign-in to immediately prevent further access to Microsoft 365 services while preserving the account and its data for the remaining offboarding procedures.

We can't show the OneDrive settings. If this is a new user, their OneDrive might not be set up yet. Try again in a few minutes.

off boarding an identity and disposing of business emails are a separate decisions.

Review OneDrive Data

Although in this practice scenario there are no drives to back up, at a company there is still due process to secure files.

review the user's OneDrive settings to determine whether company files required preservation or transfer before account deletion.

This includes reviewing mailbox, certain emails may need to be kept
